VOCAL POINT

Vocal Point, Brigham Young University's renowned nine-man a cappella group, combines harmony, humor, and remarkable vocal percussion to deliver high-energy, show-stopping performances year in and year out. Celebrated as one of the greatest college a cappella groups of all time, Vocal Point has an inventive style and innovative approach to music that has created quite a buzz since the group's inception in 1991.

From national championships to national television, Vocal Point has captured the hearts of millions across the globe. In addition to winning the largest scholastic a cappella competition in the world, the group had a magical run in 2011 on NBC's a cappella competition, The Sing-Off, interacting with artists Sara Bareilles, Shawn Stockman, and Ben Folds and competing with a cappella superstars Pentatonix. Since then, Vocal Point's online popularity has exploded—racking up more than 160 million views on the group's YouTube channel. Additionally, the group has won dozens of Contemporary A Cappella Recording Awards.

Fresh off their first international tour in 2019, the group signed a recording contract with Universal Music Group, one of the largest music distributors in the world, as part of their label Decca Gold; Vocal Point is one of only a few a cappella groups, college or pro, to have signed a major deal. Recording music once again at BYU Records, Vocal Point releases regular content on all streaming platforms worldwide. Get ready to experience what has been called “an optical illusion for your ears.” You won't hear any instruments; you'll simply hear nine vocalists uniting their love of music into one energetic performance.

Vocal Point originates in the office of Performing Arts Management at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah.
